Bill Napier and Scott Townsend

This is a picture of Scott Townsend and Bill Napier pheasant hunting in North Dakota last fall. Bill is a past member and had great success with his Pointer Male, Roy, who won numerous National Trials. I thought a lot of members would remember Bill and Roy so wanted this picture in the magazine.

Letter from the President

As I write this with a heavy heart, NSTRA lost a member, Aaron Humphrey, during the Jim Harmon Memorial trial December 30, 2023. Rest in peace Aaron, you will be greatly missed.

The office staff has seen an increase in trials not created and sanction fees not paid for in a timely manner. The trial packets are sent priority mail, but it has been taking over a week to get delivered. This causes the trial chairman to get upset, taking it out on the office staff who have no control over the delivery. If you expect trial packets to be delivered on time, pay sanction fees at least two weeks in advance.

Trial reports are due within 10 days of the trial. This has not changed, but for some reason there has been an increase in delinquent trial reports. Please complete trial reports on time. If you are having problems, contact the office staff or your Region National Officer representative. Regional Elimination Trial reports are due within five days.

UKC PERFORMANCE CLASSIC

The format for this year's UKC Performance Classic will be "beat your bracemente" throughout the trial. This includes the first round.

QUAIL FOREVER

Bids for the 2025 and 2026 QUAIL FOREVER are due by March 15, 2024. If you are interested in hosting this trial, contact the NSTRA Office for an application.

AMATEUR TRIAL OF CHAMPIONS

We will again be running an Amateur Trial of Champions April 24-27, 2024 at the Conservation Bird Dog Club in Amo, IN, if there are enough entries. Spread the word. The Qualifications: The criteria for entry into this trial is that the dog must have earned an Amateur Championship by February 1, 2024 and is NOT an open champion. A dog can be paid standby for this trial by achieving their Amateur Championship between February 1, 2024 and March 31, 2024 and is NOT an Open Champion. However, if an Open Championship is earned after March 12, 2024, the dog will still be able to compete in this trial or Trial of Champions.

I have put together a Nominating Committee for the National Officer vacancies next year. The positions that will need to be filled are, President, first vice President, and Treasurer. The Nominating Committee is:

Dale Roberts (432)209-4225 dale@silverstarins.com

Mark Gillespie (620)669-7117 magillespie1967@yahoo.com

NSTRA MEMBERS - Important things to remember!

Reminders – check back often!

National trials are the responsibility of the National Officers with input from the Board of Directors and the local co-chairs of national trials. Criteria for entry, which may be subject to change, for the original 5 National Trials is available in the reference section of the Rule Book beginning on page 41, Section 11. If a particular national trial is subject to changes in the entry criteria, there will be notice provided on the official entry form, in the magazine, on the national website, and/or by email if available.

To enter a national trial, you may submit a hard copy official entry form and payment, OR you may scan and email an official entry form with payment information, OR you may send by facsimile and official entry form with payment information, OR you may enter and pay on-line on the website. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Please note that additional new national trials may be added from time to time and do not yet appear in the current Rule Book. Please contact your National Officer Representative or the National Office staff for additional information regarding such trials. The current list of National Trials is as follows:

QUAIL FOREVER, formerly known as Quail Invitational. This is a revolving trial generally held in February.

TRIAL OF CHAMPIONS. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in April.

NATIONAL AMATEUR TRIAL OF CHAMPIONS. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in April.

UKC PERFORMANCE TRIAL. This trial is a revolving trial generally held in June.

PURINA ENDURANCE CLASSIC. This is revolving trial generally held in September:

DOG OF THE YEAR. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in October.

TOP PERFORMANCE AWARD:

To be eligible:

*Dogs must have at least 20 open points accumulated in weekend trials between June 1 through May 31 of the applicable year. Once a dog is eligible, a schedule of scoring is applied based on the results at regional elimination trials and National Trials

*The Performance Trial will be the beginning national trial each year, even if it ends prior to June 1 in order to keep the number of national trials the same each year.

*The Regional Elimination trial results used in calculating Top Performance Awards is the regularly scheduled regional elimination championship in the qualifying year/season (only one regional can count per year). Regionals scheduled or rescheduled to be held after June 1 will apply to the previous year. Each regional elimination will have a point value of 600 points. The value will drop 25 points per placement until the last dog or points run out (1 – 600, 2 – 575, 3 – 550, etc.). The placement for the regional eliminations is determined by the score of the last round in which the dog ran. In addition, 100 points will be awarded to the Champion, 75 for the second-place dog, 50 for the third and 25 for fourth.

*The National Trials results are calculated as follows: A dog must place in the top 32 dogs to receive a qualifying score from that trial. Each national trial will have a point value of 800 points. The value will drop 25 points per placement throughout the Saturday cut (1 – 800, 2 – 775, 3 – 750, etc.). The placement for the national trial is determined by the score of the last round in which the dog ran. In addition, 100 bonus points will be awarded to the Champion, 75 for second place, 50 for third and 25 for fourth.

HALL OF FAME NOMINATIONS:

Hall of Fame nominations will be accepted in a rolling calendar throughout the year. Send these nominations to the nation office, or to a national officer no later than March 31 of the year in which a dog is to be considered. Nominations of dogs to the NSTRA Hall of Fame are NOT “carried over” to following years. Plainly stated, a dog that does not get elected to the Hall of Fame in the year nominated must be re-submitted in order to be considered for election. The National Officers, in concert with the Board of Directors, make selections to the Hall of Fame each April.

TRIAL SCHEDULES:

Fall/winter trial schedules are due in the office by May 1. Spring/summer trial schedules are due in the office by Nov. 1. All trials must be published on the website 4 weeks prior to their running.

SANCTION FEES:

Trial sanction fees are required BEFORE a trial packet is mailed and before a trial may be “approved” in the system. Please pay all sanction fees at least 4 weeks prior to your trial date to ensure prompt mailing of the packet and to ensure that the trial may be drawn in a timely manner.

TRIAL REPORTS:

Trial reports and results should be entered into the trial draw system as soon as possible after a trial and no later than 10 days after the trial date. Overall results will not be approved until the reporting is complete. First place points and championships will not be confirmed or awarded until the reporting is complete. (This includes receipt of all registration paperwork for placing dogs.)

HOME REGION:

Members requesting a change of Home Region must do so, in writing, through the National Office between the dates of October 1 and January 1..

*Exception: A member who permanently relocates to within the boundaries of a Region, other than their Home Region, may make written application to the NSTRA office at any time to request a change in their Home Region.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIPS:

Associate memberships are available to members’ spouses and children 18 years and under, still living at home. There must be at least one regular paid membership in the household to qualify. Associate members have the same rights as regular members with respect to participating in field trials (e.g., owning dogs, handling dogs, judging, bird planting, etc.). Associate member may not vote in any regional or national elections including rule or by-law changes, they cannot hold an office, and they do not receive a magazine.

RULE CHANGES:

Proposed rule changes or new additions shall be submitted sixty (60) days prior to the first day of the Trial of Champions and/or the Dog of the Year trial.

CONSTITUTION/BY-LAW CHANGES:

All proposed amendments to the Constitution and By-laws shall be submitted to the National Officers at least ninety (90) days prior to the first day of the Trial of Champions and/or the Dog of the Year trial.

REGION HIGH POINT:

Points earned in the qualifying rounds of a Regional Elimination or a Championship trial DO count towards the region's high point competition. Points earned in the finals of above trials DO NOT count towards the region's high point.

OWNERSHIP CHANGE:

Once a dog takes a NSTRA placement, any subsequent ownership changes must be sent to the NSTRA office. Please send a copy of new registration papers with the new owners' names to the office. The date of transfer will be the date shown on the registration papers.

UNREGISTERED DOGS:

As of June 1st a dog cannot run in a NSTRA trial without a system-generated dog profile or record. A trial coordinator cannot create the record. National staff or officers can only create the record once registration papers are received in the NSTRA office. In addition, there remain many "unapproved" dogs in the system. Unapproved dogs shall not be entered to run in trials until proper paperwork is received and appropriate action to create the record is completed. This can either be submitted by the owner or the trial chairman. We will accept copies by fax (317-839-4197), e-mail (office@nstra.org), or a photocopy by regular mail.

NSTRA DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS:

The NSTRA Distinguished Members award honors those extraordinary men and women whose contributions and achievements significantly helped develop, or continued to improve, the National Shoot to Retrieve Field Trial Association, Inc. This award will be presented annually at the Dog of the Year banquet. Nominations may be submitted at any time to the staff at the national office, to a National Officer, or to the current chair of the Distinguished Members Committee. A short description of the individual and their contributions to NSTRA should be sent to the national office. A picture of the individual should be included, if available. Contact the NSTRA office for a list of criteria. The committee will review all Nominations and verify contributions. Decisions will be made not only by the information submitted but by any other information collected. The committee will make their decision by the April Board of Directors' meeting. A permanent plaque will be located at the NSTRA office with a smaller plaque awarded to the individual or their family if deceased.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE REQUEST

This summer, NSTRA members will play a pivotal role in electing three new National Officers who will lead and shape our organization over the next three years. The positions to be elected are President, First Vice-President, and Treasurer. The current description of each position can be found in the latest edition of the NSTRA rule book.

The 2024 Nominating Committee is actively seeking committed individuals who are enthusiastic about contributing to our organization, that for over 50 years has been a cornerstone for bird dog enthusiasts and their families across the US and Canada.

To nominate yourself or a fellow member, we request a brief biography via email. Include essential details such as your personal background, NSTRA experience, the desired office of interest, and, critically, a thoughtful analysis of the current challenges facing our organization along with a proposed plan to address them. Please ensure your biographies are submitted by April 15th to committee Chair, Jamie Laraway (jamie@truebluefarms.com). This timeline allows the Nominating Committee ample time for processing and conducting interviews with potential nominees. Your active involvement in this process is vital for the continued success and growth of our NSTRA family. We appreciate your dedication to our shared passion for our sport.

For any additional inquiries, please feel free to reach out to Jamie Laraway or any other member of the Nominating Committee. Thank you for your commitment and support.

The American Brittany

The American Brittany Club is a member club of the American Kennel Club and the recognized breed sponsor by the American Field. The Club is comprised of many regional Brittany Clubs located from coast to coast. Most of the Clubs hold field trials, conformation shows and hunt test events. The clubs also hold meetings, funerals, training sessions and other events of interest to the Brittany owner. Membership in the American Brittany Club entitles you to a monthly issue of the American Brittany magazine. This publication which began in 1949 keeps you abreast of what is happening in the Brittany world. The magazine contains reports of field trials, shows, hunt test and agility/obedience events, club activities and articles on the care and training of the Brittany. The magazine also has articles on hunting and general interest as well as listings of kennels, stud dogs and trainers.

YEARLY MEMBERSHIP IS $50.

Is Your Dog Ignoring You?

by Rick Smith & Sharon Potter Reprinted with permission from the in The Pointing Dog Journal

<https://pointingdogjournal.com/>

Do you ever get the idea that your dog has tuned you out? You've given a cue or command, you absolutely know the dog heard or saw it, yet the dog ignores you and goes on doing what it was doing. Why? Of course, the obvious possibility is that the dog hasn't completed enough training to understand that your commands always require a correct response. There's another option: Your dog has become desensitized to your commands.

There are things we want our dogs to be desensitized to, and we train specifically for those, gunfire being one of the more obvious examples. We want our dogs to focus on the birds and let the sound of the gun be background noise that's just part of the game with no fear or apprehension attached to it. This requires a dog to be more interested in something else (birds, birds, and more birds!) while they get used to the sound and learn to relate it to the birds and the fun. This is good desensitization training.

There's another kind of desensitizing that people do, and it's not so good... in fact, it's downright harmful, and we usually don't even realize we've done it. This makes both hunting and training harder, because we've created a situation where we must do way more than we should to get a response from our dogs.

The numerous ways we teach our dogs to not respond to our cues are, for the most part, linked together. One leads to another, which starts the snowball rolling downhill fast. The problem usually begins with repeating a verbal command. Let's take here or come as an example.

Our dog is a distance away from us and we say, "Spot, here." Nothing happens... and now it's, "Spot... here!" Still no reaction from the dog; in fact, good old Spot looks our way and then meanders off on his own. Now we turn to shouting at full volume and with some serious frustration (and perhaps a few more colorful words) added to our voice. The neighbors heard you a quarter-mile away, and good old Spot finally decides he'd better quit what he's doing and come to you – or maybe he decides to go in the opposite direction because he doesn't want to deal with an angry person. This happens several times a day, and has gotten to be standard practice at Spot's house. And when Spot finally does come to you, he sure doesn't look confident or happy about it, which is a reflection of the anger and frustration he's gotten from his handler.

What just happened? First of all, if Spot finally comes when you get to the third time or more and are yelling, you've taught Spot to count to three and wait for your loud voice. He knows exactly how many times he can ignore you before he finally has to give in and listen. Spot also has learned that he only has to come when you shout at him at full volume. He has become desensitized to anything but that routine.

Why did it happen? The best answer is inconsistency on the part of Spot's trainer. When the dog was learning to come, it was taught via handler inconsistency to ignore – or become desensitized to – quiet commands.

How do we fix it? As with training in general, it's much easier not to start the problem in the first place than it is to fix it after it has become habit. To retrain the dog after it has formed a behavior pattern will take many more repetitions than it would have had the dog been trained to respond to quiet cues initially. With any command, say it once in a firm and quiet voice. Then enforce it. Do not repeat it while you're enforcing it, as that leads to the whole counting thing again.

That's one big reason we rarely use verbal commands in our training. We get the dog to do what we want and develop a pattern of learned behavior, and then give the cue a name after the dog is doing it correctly and consistently. This means spending a lot of time on the checkcord and never verbally asking the dog to come unless you have the checkcord in your hand and can enforce the command. When the dog does come to you, quietly give your verbal command, but say it just one time.

Remember, dogs aren't born speaking English. Most of the time, all the talking we do around our dogs is done more for our benefit than for them. And when the voice is used constantly, it becomes background noise to the dogs and they learn to ignore it. Again, we've desensitized them to our voice by using a lot of meaningless chatter. Have you ever been around a person who talks non-stop about nothing, and you can't get a word in edgewise? Think about not being that person around your dog.

Desensitizing comes in more forms than just verbal. The physical cues we give can also be overdone to the point that dogs don't respond to the first cue, or they wait for the stronger cue because they've learned it won't be enforced until the stronger cue is given.

This is usually a result of the cue being increased so gradually that the dog has no reason to respond. Always start soft, but if you need more, get your point across and then go right back down to a soft touch with your cues. Don't nag. It's sort of like the radio in your car. When you're on a long trip by yourself and you've got the radio or CD player on, the tendency is to gradually turn it up a little at a time because it sounds better and covers the road noise. Then you arrive at your destination and shut the engine off without turning the volume back down, and when you get back into your car for the trip home and start the engine, the radio is so loud it about knocks you out of your seat. You had no idea it was set so loud because you turned up the volume so gradually, you didn't notice how loud it had become.

There are going to be times in training where you need to "turn up the volume." When you do need to, turn it up fast to "loud," then go all the way back down to the softest cue. This teaches the dog to respond to a quiet cue because the loud one is unpleasant and is a correction rather than a normal cue. And you won't desensitize your dog in the process.

When using physical cues, whether it's with our hands or body language, a lead, the checkcord, a whistle, or an e-collar, we need to start softly. If more is needed to make a correction, don't increase the cue so gradually the dog doesn't notice it has been increased. Turn the "volume" up, make your point, then go all the way back to a quiet cue.

It's easy to pick out a dog that has been desensitized. They typically do one of two things: They act a little fearful and are looking at their handler almost constantly, or they ignore the handler and do whatever they want. The first comes from being too controlling and heavy-handed; the second comes from not enforcing commands after one cue.

A soft touch leaves the style in the dog, while a dog that has been dominated will still perform but will lack the confident, classy look of a dog trained with a lighter touch. The light-touch dog is trained; the dominated dog is "broke." If we keep our commands/cues to a minimum, we allow the dog to concentrate on doing its job rather than listening to us chatter. A person who is overcontrolling is usually a person who gets a dog broke but not trained. The dog is reacting more out of domination and fear instead of boldness and confidence.

Believe it or not, it's also possible to desensitize a dog to praise. Over-rewarding with effusive praise takes the dog's focus off its job and desensitizes it to a gentle touch, while a light touch or quick pat on the shoulders tells the dog it has done well yet allows the dog to continue doing its job.

The end product of a desensitized dog is a dog that exhibits boredom, confusion, or fear (and fear includes bolting and running away from the situation). Slow down, take your time to teach the dog what you want, and don't be in a hurry to name the commands. When you do name them, be consistent and quiet. Give a command once and then back it up with a correction other than verbal.

Less is more: Train and handle your dog with that short phrase in mind. Teach your dog to respond to a quiet cue the first time so you don't desensitize it, and you'll spend a lot more time hunting and a lot less time correcting.

This dog is definitely distracted, and without some communication from the handler...

It only gets worse and the dog disconnects.

This pointer pup is focused on something ahead, but is dialed into his handler and staying connected.

2023 DOG OF THE YEAR NATIONAL TRIAL

Indiana in the fall – nothing is more beautiful with the colorful leaves on the trees.

The Dog of the Year (DOY) National trial is the culmination of the Regional Elimination trials. In order to participate in the Dog of the Year, a dog must have run in a regional elimination trial. The selection for DOY is on a prorated basis & based on total number of dogs run in each region's elimination trial to achieve 192 participating dogs. The DOY was run on three fields on Wednesday and Thursday taking the top 16 dogs from each field to compete in the Friday's round 2 elimination of sixteen braces; the top 12 dogs from each field advanced to Saturday. Round 3 was three fields of 6 braces with the Top 6 from each field advancing. Round 4 was three fields of 3 braces with the Top 2 advancing, and Round 5 was a single field of the Top 6 with the two highest scores determining the Final Hour dogs.

It was a pleasure to have Greg Blair from Purina and Domenick Muoio with UKC & American Field with us during the trial. Thanks for joining us!

This year, there were 105 unique handlers from 25 regions with Indiana & the Midwest having the most dogs at 19 each followed by Kentucky and Ohio with 17 dogs each. There were 67 English Setters, 60 German Shorthair Pointers, 31 Brittany's, 27 English Pointers, 5 German Wirehair Pointers, 1 Vizsla, and 1 Llewelin Setter. After the trial was drawn, there were 28 dogs on the bye list & 18 dogs on that list were able to get into the trial as other dogs & handlers pulled.

Trouble

A HELPING HAND

by: Randy Schultz, Travelling Bird Hunter

One thing I enjoy while hunting in lonely country is stopping to help broken down vehicles. Sometimes we are successful, sometimes not. But I don't like leaving unless I know at least help is on the way.

Once in Arizona, as we were driving out of the Mearns Quail mountains on the way back to Tucson, I drove around a corner and up behind a stopped pickup truck with an older man underneath the right rear wheel. I parked behind him and eased out to see if I could assist. He had a flat and his jack was too short to get the wheel off the ground. We gee'd and haw'd for a while then decided to put that jack away and use the one that came with the truck and put a block of wood underneath it to make sure we got the tire off the ground. It worked. Then he pulled out an extra spare he just had mounted to a new rim. The rim did not fit the lug nuts on the truck, which caused no small amount of adult words to flow by the old man. So, we went back to the original spare up underneath the truck and it fit just fine. I said I hoped it had good air pressure in it. He said it did, he just had it checked. I opined that I hoped it wasn't checked by the same the guys that mounted that first spare tire to the wrong sized rim. We all had a good laugh at that.

In amongst all that manly talking and spitting and wiping grease off the hands, we managed to have a few laughs and told a few stories. It took us about 45 minutes to get him back on the road to civilization. That included time to meet his dogs and talk some about Mearns Quail hunting. As we drove off, I realized we acted like the best of friends at the end of it all, and I never got the man's name. It wasn't that important.

Along a divided, 4-lane highway in New Mexico one day, I saw pickup truck hauling yearlings in a trailer with a flat tire on the trailer. I just bought one of those combination battery charger, air pump, USB connectors for charging stuff apparatus the day before I left to hunt. The tire wasn't completely flat, so I hooked up the air compressor and let 'er rip. We talked for a while and the old man's wife said she was not looking forward to off-loading the beeves on the side of the highway to get the tire jacked up. I couldn't imagine that- a recipe for disaster. After 15 minutes, the tire didn't look anymore inflated. The old man said he lived 5 miles down the road, and, if I would, we could run fetch a bigger jack and a new tire from his barn. Off we went. It was more than 5 miles (by about 10 miles) but we picked up a huge jack and a new tire and we headed back. We left the beeves on the trailer, swapped out tires, and I wished them well as they drove into the setting sun. I didn't catch their names.

Another morning, on a long stretch of blacktop in New Mexico, between Nowhere and Where-Are-We?, I stopped for a pickup pulled off a two-lane road with a spectacular blowout. By spectacular, I mean it was absolutely shredded! I was really interested in the story of that failure. And I was hoping for a complete blow-by-blow of the incident as we changed his tire. A young man struggled to get the lug nuts off. Wrong-sized wrench. I dug mine out and it wouldn't fit, either. As is common here in the Southwest, he spoke no English, and my extensive Spanish studies allowed me to order beer and nachos and tell people my wife speaks Spanish. He was talking on his cell, but I wanted to make sure help was coming before I left him to the coyotes. So, I grabbed my phone, opened the Google Translate App, and held my phone up for him to see. As I typed, the message came out in Spanish. He was looking over my shoulder (well, over my elbow), and he nodded yes, when I typed and asked if help was coming. He spoke some Spanish and the translator typed that help was on the road already- and gracias. I felt much better about driving off after that.

It wasn't a broken-down vehicle but a man that was lost one day in the Mearns Quail mountains near the border of southern Arizona. We returned to our trucks after a longish cast. I noticed a man sitting under a bush, not far from our trucks. Thinking it was our hunting partner, I raised my shotgun in the air and yelled, "Hold it right there, partner!"- joking with my friend. It wasn't my friend. A man got up with his hands raised and stood there waiting for us to approach. I put the shotgun away and he lowered his hands.

His name was Antonio. It was the week before Christmas, he was lost and deserted by his "friends", he wanted to go home. He'd been there a week, his cell phone was dead, he was out of food, and he didn't want to drink from the numerous stock tanks in the area. He spoke passable English, and it was plain this wasn't his first rodeo. I said to him, "So you want to break into Mexico?" We all got a good chuckle at that. I gave him a gallon of fresh water, a tall-boy Red Bull, and a huge ham and cheese sandwich I made that morning. My friend pointed him to the fence, and he walked off. I regret not getting his home phone to call his wife to let her know he was ok and on the way home for Christmas.

Since I've been making it a point to help while on my hunting trips, I noticed it made me feel pretty good. In fact, I think I get more out of it than the folks I help. That's probably the way it should be.

Weekend Trials

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA REGION HOSTS 4-DAY TRIAL

SoCal NSTRA hosted our first-ever four-day event attended by four regions in Lockwood Valley, CA, over Presidents Day weekend called the Two Bitch Bourbon Grand Slam. A fifth region had attempted to participate but could not get through the 28-dog bye list. This event was co-hosted by two regions, SoCal (Mitch Prowse) and NW (Nelson/Angie Bañuelos), with a high degree of success. Challenges occurred as they always will and were quickly mitigated due to advanced exhaustive planning and preparation for any scenarios we might encounter, resulting in no impact on the trials.

The weather reflected a lovely Manitoba spring like day, while blessed to have no rain for once this year; otherwise, Mike Stotts surely would have buried another vehicle in the mud (LOL). Breathtaking meals were prepared from Friday through Monday (Breakfast, Lunch, and Dinner) by Angie in a banquet-style fashion each day with the assistance of Morgan Cole, making sure judges and attendees were receiving timely notifications on meals being ready. One of our primary concerns had been getting through all the braces with limited daylight, and Jenny Tomlin was an absolute rockstar at ensuring there were no delays. Jenny was so effective in it that we even had enough time leftover each day for 19 braces if allowed, which this time of year leaves us speechless.

We were excited that we had new local members and many members from NSTRA who had never been to SoCal before.

We are also amazed by the excellent sponsors for this trial, and with that, we would like to thank (Two Bitch Bourbon - Exceptional Spirits, Battle Born Metals - NSTRA Clocks Richi Hight, Asher Product - Electronic Backing Dog Chuck Asher) for helping us make our event so successful.

Additionally a big shout out to Nelson and Angie for donating all of the food and several hundred birds, and the Tomlin/McNamee families for matching some very large donations by the Bañuelos making for an extremely successful weekend showing just what the west can do when

By Robert Franks

He may not be quite as tall as the other handlers but sixth-grader Tucker Looper makes up the height and age disadvantage through complete spirit. Watching Tucker grow and mature into an excellent handler has been a pleasure. When asked what his favorite thing about NSTRA field trialing is, he quickly replied, "Winning". What a great answer from a young handler.

His favorite dog is Billie because she "runs hard, points good, retrieves great, and because she wins a bunch". He is quick to point out the help James String, Tim String, Robert Franks, and Kalem Dartez have given him.

Tucker gave special thanks to Donnie Parker for helping him find a dog and get started. When asked what is the hardest aspect of trialing for him to grasp, he replied, "helping his dog locate birds". Based on observations from the gallery Tucker is picking up the game quickly and will be in the winners' circle many more times. The Arkansas/Louisiana region salutes its youngest handler and wishes him many more years of enjoyment running dogs.

Unknown Canine Respiratory Illness: What We Know So Far

By Melanie Haid, <https://www.akc.org/expert-advice/health/unknown-canine-respiratory-illness/> Reprinted with permission.

Outbreaks of an unknown canine respiratory illness have been becoming increasingly prevalent as noted in the media over the past few months in many states across the United States. Especially this time of year, increased respiratory infections are reported among dogs, but this particular one doesn't yet have a name – or a clear cause or treatment.

Owners are reporting symptoms that mainly include prolonged coughing, lethargy, and change in appetite. We spoke to American Kennel Club Chief Veterinarian Dr. Jerry Klein about what we know so far, and what dog owners should do to stay vigilant.

Symptoms to Look Out For

Dogs that are being treated for what is believed to be the same respiratory illness have symptoms that include coughing, significant lethargy, and a change in appetite. "If you see those together, that would warrant seeing a veterinarian," says Dr. Klein.

"I would advise owners not to panic when their dog coughs, but to contact their veterinarian at the first sign of a cough and see what they recommend and voice their concerns," Dr. Klein says. "Certainly visit a veterinarian or visit an emergency clinic if a cough is lingering, changes character, and doesn't seem to go away, or if the dog becomes lethargic or goes off feed."

These symptoms could also be the cause of other upper respiratory illnesses in dogs, like kennel cough, pneumonia, and canine influenza.

What We Know About This Canine Respiratory Illness

The American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) first reported cases of this canine respiratory illness in August 2023 in the Portland metro area of Oregon. From mid-August to mid-November, more than 200 cases of this illness were reported. National numbers are not known exactly because states have different reporting requirements, but cases of this canine respiratory illness have been found in Colorado, New Hampshire, and Oregon. Reuters recently reported that potential cases of the canine respiratory illness have been found in California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Washington.

Dr. Klein says that because the cause is unknown, tracking the illness is also more difficult. "We don't know if the outbreaks that were experienced in Oregon, for example, are the same cause or causes of the dogs that were studied in New Hampshire."

But it's not as widespread as people may think. "I don't think cases are as prevalent all around the country," he says. Dr. Klein mentions that only two dogs had been brought in at the practice that he works at in Chicago with similar symptoms in the past few weeks, and these cases turned out to be Bordetella. "There may be other areas that may be worse, and certain parts of the country that may be experiencing outbreaks of something."

In some cases, pneumonia has been reported in relation to this illness. "The dogs that got pneumonia were a little bit different than typical pneumonia cases that vets see," Dr. Klein says. "But it doesn't give us an idea of what it is."

Is Unknown Canine Respiratory Illness Contagious?

Unfortunately, at the moment, there is no certain answer on whether or not this illness is contagious between dogs.

"We can't be 100% certain on the exact means of contagion, the duration in the environment, and things like that," Dr. Klein says. "Whether it's a virus or bacteria, and how exactly it's spread, we don't know exactly." Until researchers know more, Dr. Klein says that vets are taking extra precautions to keep dogs that are showing symptoms isolated.

Dr. Klein does say that it does appear to be contagious dog-to-dog. "We haven't seen it in people or in cats relating to this, so we think it's species-specific." That being said, he emphasizes that it's still not known how it transfers, or how it can pass between dogs in the same household, kennels, etc. Looking For Answers Through Research
When a dog is brought in with coughing or similar symptoms, Dr. Klein says that vets have been trying to do diagnostic tests and respiratory panels when they can to rule out other known illnesses. Across the country, researchers are trying to piece together the common symptoms and potential causes to nail down whether this is something that is known, like a variant of kennel cough, a new illness entirely, or possibly multiple causes.

"Just like with humans, we have flu-like symptoms, and we go to urgent care to test for COVID, or influenza, because these signs mimic each other," says Dr. Klein. It is also still unknown whether or not this illness is viral or bacterial.

"Unfortunately in this case, the answers haven't been as instant as anyone would like," Dr. Klein says. "Veterinarians want to do the best thing for the dog. We want to be able to know what we're treating and how to treat it properly."

What Should You Do if You Suspect Your Dog is Sick?

If your dog has a lingering cough, owners should call and consult their vets. There might be procedures already put in place to sanitize rooms and keep offices less full so that the illness isn't passed to other dogs in waiting rooms. In the case that this illness is contagious, Dr. Klein says it's important to limit exposure to other dogs. "We don't want to hurt other dogs if this is very contagious," he says. "We don't know how it is, so we have to go along the lines that it could be very contagious."

In the case where these symptoms do arise, Dr. Klein says to bring your dog to the vet or emergency room. Your veterinarian can help identify and rule out other causes by running diagnostics tests, and treat anything that is identifiable in the meantime, as well as symptomatic care.

If you're worried about the number of cases in your area, Dr. Klein urges owners to consult their veterinary offices to see if there have been cases in the area. The best people who will know of outbreaks around you will be your local vet or emergency veterinarian. "Be aware of what's going on at your local level, and ask if they've seen a recent upsurge of respiratory cases," he said. "If they have then your area may be experiencing an outbreak of something, and you should be especially prudent about how and where you handle your dog among other dogs."

What Can You Do to Help Prevent Your Dog From Getting Sick?

Dr. Klein says that part of the rising levels of panic have to do with the unknown illness being called a "mystery illness." "We don't know if there's a cause or multiple causes leading to the pronouncement of people saying their dogs are sick," he says. "And there's no way of knowing unless proper diagnostic tests are taken and ruled in, or ruled out, to figure out if this is one of those quote unknown cases or one of the many known cases."

But there are still things that you can do to keep your dog safe and stay aware of the situation. "Be preemptive and keep your dog as healthy as possible," he says. "Make sure that your dogs are up to date on all the things that we can vaccinate for that can cause illness."
